Guide Description

AUTHOR NOTE: When visiting Bath you will be spoiled for choice of restaurants, whatever your budget. If you don't have much to spend and are after a relaxed atmosphere choose either celebrity chef Jamie Oliver's Jamie's Italian or The Raven, and if you have a bit more cash head to The Hole in the Wall, situated a stone's throw from the world-famous Circus. If you fancy getting dressed up head to The Royal Crescent restaurant or The Olive Tree. Those who prefer cuisine from further afield should head to The Eastern Eye (one of the UK's best Indian restaurants), Yum Yum Thai, Wagamama or Pizza Express.

1 Royal Crescent Restaurant

DESCRIPTION: Have you every fancied dining in style but been put off by the prices? Delay no longer and book yourself a table at the Royal Crescent restaurant. The restaurant is situated within the Royal Crescent Hotel and offers diners the opportunity to enjoy a wonderful meal in historic surroundings. At lunchtimes, a diverse menu is offered. For those with champagne tastes and beer money, it is best to book ahead, clearly stating that you would like an 'FT lunch'. This option allows you to choose from the regular luncheon menu but pay only £10 per head. The offer is available for two weeks per year. Evening meals are candlelit affairs with a wonderful ambience. Good food. Amazing surroundings. What could be finer? © wcities.com

2 Jamie's Italian

OUR LOCAL EXPERT SAYS:

Head to the restaurant outside of normal eating hours as the queue gets very long at peak times.

DESCRIPTION: Jamie Oliver is one of Britain's best-known celebrity chefs, and in 2008 he unveiled an Italian restaurant in Bath. Jamie's Italian was popular from day one and is definitely worthy of the queue that often forms outside its doors. The large restaurant serves high-quality Italian fare at reasonable prices, unlike most other celebrity restaurants. The atmosphere is relaxed yet charming, and families are made to feel very welcome. Jamie's Italian is situated in Milsom Place, a new leisure area situated off Bath's high street, and therefore is easy to get to. If you're nearby on a Friday, Saturday or Sunday morning be sure to drop in for brekky. © NileGuide

3 The Raven of Bath

DESCRIPTION: Located in the center of Bath, this popular family-owned pub has two separate bars. It serves Bellringer from Abbey Ales, and also has five pumps which feature a changing selection. Some of its ales include: Blindmans Brewery's Icarus, Shepherd Neame's Spitfire, and Badger's Tanglefoot. The Raven also specializes in pies. Eastern Eye (The)

DESCRIPTION: The Eastern Eye occupies an enviable position just off of Milsom Street at the top of the city. It is a family run business with a solid reputation for providing excellent service and delicious traditional Indian cuisine. The restaurant is huge and well-lit; the decor is uncomplicated and the tables are well-spaced. The Georgian interior has survived the transformation to restaurant and the elaborate ceilings make a visit worthwhile in themselves. The menu is fairly comprehensive and the balti dishes are always popular. Listen to your waiter's recommendations, he is almost always right. © wcities.com

Pizza Express

OUR LOCAL EXPERT SAYS:

Consistently good pizza, yet nicer than your average pizzeria. Kids' menus and activity boxes available.

DESCRIPTION: Start with garlic bread and move on to one of Pizza Express's speciality pizzas cooked in full view by nice blokes in prison outfits. At this point, it is worth mentioning that it is considered very poor form to taunt these hard working chaps about the state of their uniforms, although a polite word to the management wouldn't go astray. Whether your taste is for a traditional Fiorentina, the Caprina with sun-dried tomatoes and goat's cheese, or the American Hot Pizza, you can be sure your taste buds will dance. The environment is modern and stylish - a very lively evening atmosphere. If pizza doesn't take your fancy, try one of the other house specialities - lasagne or the less adventurous ham and eggs. Wash it all down with beer and cocktails or plump for the excellent value house wine. © wcities.com

Olive Tree Restaurant

DESCRIPTION: Brits are known for their hospitality and British food has captured the imagination of several generations round the world, thanks to English authors and novels. At Olive Tree Restaurant in the Queensberry Hotel, these long-cherished dreams can be fulfilled, courtesy the culinary expertise of master Chef Marc Salmon and his team. The restaurant serves breakfast, lunch and dinner, with some typical British delicacies like Cornish Coley Filet and Indian spiced rump of lamb. The desserts here are particularly delectable. It is no wonder then that the restaurant enjoys an excellent reputation among gourmets. © wcities.com

Wagamama

OUR LOCAL EXPERT SAYS:

Famous London chain, cheap and cheerful.

Bath BA1 2EB

hours:

M-Sa Noon-11p, Su
Noon-10p

DESCRIPTION: Wagamama serves up a pan-Asian cuisine that features a fusion of eclectic traditional favorites with modern flavors. The fare is made fresh and all items are featured on a dietary menu, allowing guests full access to the ingredients in their food. Orders are taken via electronic pads, meaning that preparation begins in the kitchen as soon as you have made a choice on what to order. Dishes come to the table in the order that they are prepared, which can be problematic for groups who want to eat together. Start off with a range of dumplings, or dive right into the kare noodle soups. The atmosphere is also a major draw with lots of open, light space and minimalist décor. The end result is a dining experience that has only grown in popularity as new locations have opened worldwide. © wcities.com

8 Hole in the Wall (The)

DESCRIPTION: A vaulted restaurant in one of the older parts of Bath, The Hole in the Wall has received praise from both Michael Winner and the Good Food Guide. Warm, muted lighting adds to the intimacy of the restaurant. Although the menu changes regularly, typical dishes include such delights as Cornish mussels with white wine, cream and garden herbs, pot-roast partridge, savoy cabbage and bacon, and ribeye steak of organic beef with roasted red onions. Desserts include Barabrith and butter pudding, chocolate torte with espresso ice-cream, and a plate of local cheese, apple, celery and their own chutney. Cocktails and a selection of Belgian beers are available, as are teas, coffees and tisanes. © wcities.com

DESCRIPTION: A truly bright, enlightened spot in Kingsmead Square, Yum Yum Thai is fully licensed and serves food throughout the day. Here, you can pick up lunch at less than a fiver. Do try the green Thai curry, it's the best in the city. The full a la carte menu is available from 6pm and includes a plethora of vegetarian options. Home-made desserts follow, then top it all off with espresso based coffees, Italian liqueurs, and plenty of juices and teas (including a very nice jasmine blend). Food is available until 11pm, but the place is licensed until 2am. 1 Demuths

OUR LOCAL EXPERT SAYS:

Booking is necessary especially on weekends. Demuths also runs a cookery school for classes.

DESCRIPTION: Demuths—"positively vegetarian"—restaurant specializes in dealing with the most difficult of dietary needs. Principally organic food is served here and vegans, vegetarians, gluten and nut-intolerant individuals are all catered for in an atmosphere of friendly welcome. For excellent specialist food in appealing surroundings, Demuths can't be bettered. Main dishes range from the Moroccan 'toureg tajine', through Thai red curry and Glamorgan sausages. Even the desserts represent a variety of different countries, and include such delights as Indonesian black rice pudding, apple and pear crumble, banoffi pie and organic mango sorbet. An extensive range of organic wines is also available. © wcities.com

Bath Snapshot

Local Info

Soon after you arrive in Bath, you will discover that it is a unique British city. Named after the hot springs that pour into its heart, Bath is a landscape of honey-coloured Georgian crescents. Royal Crescent is the finest example, but there are many more elegant streets lined with tall Georgian buildings for you to meander through.

Bath city centre is not just beautiful, but it is also extremely compact too. This makes it easy for pedestrians to navigate. In the city centre you will find The Jane Austen Centre, Bath Abbey, the beautiful Pulteney Bridge and the luxurious Thermae Bath Spa.

It was the Romans that put this Somerset city on the map, so find out exactly what they did for it at the fascinating Roman Baths. Follow your tour of the baths with afternoon tea at The Pump Room and you will be experiencing Bath exactly as the elite have done throughout the years.

The city of Bath is at the bottom of a hill-lined "bowl", and around the edges of that bowl you will discover rolling British countryside, beckoning you to lace up your walking boots and get exploring. Even within the city you can spend hours roaming through green areas in its cleverly laid out parks, such as Prior Park and Royal Victoria Park.

History

History is the very foundation of Bath. You can see it in the Georgian buildings, in the Italian-style Pulteney Bridge, and of course in the elegant Roman Baths. Here are the key events in Bath's history:

• 836 BC

King Bladud and his herd of pigs discovers the healing properties of Bath's hot spring, after it cures him of a skin disease that had seen him ostracized.

• 44AD

The Romans come to Britain while they're building their empire, and found Bath, then called Aquae Sulis. They built the extensive Roman Baths, which you can still explore today.

• 944 AD

The Saxons built a monastery in the spot where the beautiful Bath Abbey now stands.

• Georgian era (1714 to 1830 AD)

Bath's heyday saw anybody who was anybody coming to Bath to take the waters. It was at this time that the elegant addresses (such as The Royal Crescent and Circus) that Bath is famous for were built. It was during this time that Jane Austen (writer of Sense & Sensibility, Emma and Pride & Prejudice) made her home in Bath.

• Victorian era (1837 to 1901 AD)

An 11-year-old Princess Victoria, who later became Queen Victoria, opened the beautiful Royal Victoria Park. This was one of the only times that she visited Bath, because after a Bath resident commented that she had chubby ankles she vowed to never visit the city again.

Hotel Insights

On first impressions Bath comes across as an expensive destination. Although it's true that there are many cheaper places to visit in the world, it is certainly not prohibitively costly. There are several decent options for the budget traveller, besides many luxury Bath hotels for those with more cash to play with.

One option for those watching the cash is the central YMCA. Although its décor is a little on the bland side, it is excellently located in the north-eastern area of the city centre, and so within five to ten minutes walk of all the major sites. For a more interesting option, climb up Bathwick Hill (or get the number 18 bus) to Bath YHA Hostel. It's period exterior gives way to modern rooms, many of which boast views over the gardens.

If you're willing to spend a little more, look to the suburbs of Newbridge, a flat 20-walk from the city centre, or Oldfield Park, to the southwest of the city centre and slightly elevated. Here you will find numerous bed and breakfast options, such as Oldfields and Dorian House.

If you want the time of your life in Bath, splash the cash and book yourselves into one of the many luxurious hotels available. For the ultimate Bath experience step into the polished lobby of The Royal Crescent Hotel, or shy away from the tourists in the central Queensberry Hotel, or the Bath Priory, near the west boundary of Royal Victoria Park.

Those who prefer to hotels in sweeping English countryside should opt for the grand Lucknam Park, indulgent Babington House (complete with Cowshed Spa), or child-friendly Woolley Grange. All are fabulous options within easy reach of Bath, and the finishing touch to a special break you will never forget.

Restaurants Insights

There are many restaurants in Bath to choose from, and most of them are within walking distance of Bath city centre. Here is just a selection, organized by cuisine:

British

The Circus – fabulous food between The Circus and Royal Crescent in the heart of Georgian Bath

The White Hart – tuck into a Sunday roast here and you will leave so full that you won't need to eat for days

Sally Lunns – step back in time in the oldest restaurant in Bath and don't even think about not having a Bath bun

Indian

The Eastern Eye – step inside one of Britain's finest Indian restaurants to enjoy both classic Indian dishes and something a little different, while admiring the stunning decadence of the interior

Italian

Jamie's Italian – laid back but delicious pasta created by Britain's favourite celebrity chef

Martini's – atmospheric family-run Italian that will lure you in with garlicky smells

Pizza Express – fresh and delicious pizza and salads

Japanese

Yen Sushi – this popular sushi restaurant is small but perfectly formed, and has quickly become a firm favourite to Bath residents and visitors alike

Other

Demuths – although this is a vegetarian restaurant the food is so delicious that carnivores won't even miss the meat from their plate

Hudsons – any red-blooded carnivore should not miss this delicious steak restaurant on the edge of Bath's artisan quarter, Walcot Street

Firehouse Rotisserie – this warm and hearty central restaurant serves innovative Californian fare presented with flare

Nightlife Insights

Bath is not a city to come to if you are looking for wild nights of debauchery, and it's so much better for it. There are plenty of places to enjoy a drink in Bath, several low-key entertainment options and a couple of clubs should you feel the need to strut your stuff however.

For an evening drink or two head to:

- The Hop Pole – Bath Ale opposite Royal Victoria Park
- Marlborough Tavern – wine in style round the corner from The Royal Crescent
- The Raven – pair your pint with a pie
- Sub 13 – for a swanky option head underground to sample the finest cocktails in Bath

For a fun night out:

- Komedia – laugh until your belly aches at Bath's comedy club
- Little Theatre – if you fancy a film opt for the Little Theatre over Odeon and settle down in a cosy seat with treats that didn't cost you the GDP of a small country
- Moles – the coolest bands in Bath play at Moles so it's the place for music fans to head to
- Theatre Royal – catch a show on its way to or from the West End, in one of the country's most beautiful theatres

Things to Do Insights

No visitor to Bath can fail to notice the variety of tour buses circling the city, pointing out the main sights to the crowds. These run regularly from Orange Grove and the bus station and, for those with mobility problems, are a sensible and affordable way to learn more about the history of the city. But Bath was made for walking, and if you take the time to explore on foot, you will more easily appreciate the riches that the city has to offer. There are numerous walking tours available, from the sublime 'Mayors Guides Walk' that leaves the Abbey twice daily and is free, to the ridiculous 'Bizarre Bath' that will leave you in stitches. If you prefer to enjoy a pint in the city's finest pubs, check out The Great Bath Pub Crawl. If you prefer to explore alone, then the tourist information office has leaflets with well defined routes that will take you past the main attractions and beyond.

Bath Abbey

Stroll along the canal for the short walk into the city centre and visit the beautiful gothic Abbey and courtyard before nipping around the corner for a 'Sally Lunn' bun and popping beneath the tearooms for a look around the Sally Lunn Museum and the medieval remains: £1.80. Back into the courtyard for a seat in the square and a chance to listen to classical musicians playing. Drop a few coins into the hat, and then book tickets for tonight's performance at the Theatre Royal. Make your way to the graceful Royal Crescent Restaurant for lunch. You've pre-booked the 'FT' lunch at £10 per person, and treat yourselves to a bottle of house wine at £9.

Royal Victoria Park

After a leisurely lunch, you leave the hotel, strolling back into the city through Royal Victoria Park. Just enough time for a quick visit to the Guildhall Market and a spot of bargain hunting. Then wander across Pulteney Bridge and into Beazers Garden for a cup of tea and splendid views of the weir: £5. What could be more romantic than a French restaurant? Candles adorn the tables at Tilleys and the food is beautiful. Rather than offering the traditional starter, mains, dessert option, Tilleys offers starters only! So those with a bigger appetite can order as many or as few as is required: £25.

Museum of East Asian Art

No self-respecting parent should be allowed to leave the city until their children have had the chance to experience the adventure playground at Victoria Park. This playground is the largest in the South West and is designed for children aged two to twenty. Young ones love the crane, sand pits and train station. Older ones play on the ropes, tubes and slides. Teenagers bring bikes, skateboards and rollerblades and spend hours perfecting jumps on the half-pipes and ramps in the specially designed area. If rain stops play, then follow the Upper Bristol Road back into the heart of the city and stop at the Museum of East Asian Art. It's very child-friendly too, and often run competitions during the summer holidays and weekends that keep the little ones motivated and interested. Open-top tour buses will allow you to see most of the sights and children enjoy the ride too. Older ones who are not too exhausted at the end of the day will love Bizarre Bath, a comedy walk that leaves the centrally located Huntsman pub at 8p. Finally, don't forget to take a few minutes in the centre to watch the buskers, many of which have performed on television. The standard is high, and the price, a few coins.

High Street

Shopping in Bath is a real pleasure. The city has all the major High Street fashion stores, from French Connection and Karen Millen to Dorothy Perkins and Topshop. It also has a wealth of independent clothing retailers and second hand shops that offer the best in service and style. Serious shoppers should start from the top of Milsom Street and work their way down to Southgate. Without stopping at any shops, this route will take about four minutes. If you stop, then expect it to take four hours! The real joy here is that as you work your way down, the shops get progressively cheaper, almost by design. All your favorite High Street names run along this route, as well as a few independent shops. If you are looking for something a little more out of the ordinary, then avoid the pedestrianised area, and take a left towards the Podium, then left again into Walcot Street. This bohemian centre has everything you require for your new look. Check out Jack'n' Danny's, a retro-fashion store where a fashion designer will create a pair of jeans to your own design for the ultimate in individuality.

Jane Austen Center

Take a tour of the city that Jane Austen called her home. This Jane Austen Tour takes you off the beaten path and strolls you around the sites in Bath that Austen wrote about and encountered on a daily basis throughout her life.

Be sure to check out one of the various walking tours, as the guides can fill in the blanks to your questions about the ins and outs of Bath. If there is time, you may want to venture out-of-town, where the tours will leave you wishing you could extend your stay in Bath.

Did you know?

Since it is the only natural hot springs in the country, Bath is Great Britain's leading winter resort. It was first discovered by the Romans in the first century A.D. who named the city Aquae Solis or "Waters of the Sun."

Bath is one of England's most popular film location(especially the Roman Baths, the Royal Crescent, and the Circus). Since 1931, over 100 films and TV productions have been filmed in this picturesque town.
